THE STIEGLERS: A FAMILY THAT BIRKIES TOGETHER

For the Stiegler family, the American Birkebeiner isn't just a race — it's a way of life. What started as a love for the trails and the thrill of competition has grown into a cherished family tradition that spans generations, podiums, and countless unforgettable memories.

This year alone, the Stieglers — Mike and his wife Sonja Savre, along with their sons, Keir and Cole — racked up an impressive six podium finishes across multiple events at EPIC Bike Fest. Keir led the charge with a 1st-place finish in the Half Singletrack and a 3rd-place in the Full Gravel in the 30–39 age group. Sonja dominated the women's field, taking first in three categories and proving that age is nothing but a number. Mike, the self-proclaimed “rear guard” of the family, still landed on the podium in his age group, joking that his best strategy is to “just keep moving and hope there are fewer competitors in my bracket.” And Cole, always up for a challenge, added top finishes in the Full Singletrack and Full Epic events to the family's long list of accomplishments.

But for the Stieglers, the Birkie is about more than results — it's about connection. Whether they're riding, skiing, running, or volunteering as the cheerful “Silly Birds” at the 47km marker, the family embraces the spirit of the Birkie community. “We love being part of it all,” says Mike. “It's the camaraderie, the energy, the feeling that you're part of something bigger than yourself.”

“ It's...the feeling that you're part of something bigger than yourself. ”

The Stieglers cheer on all of their family members who are a part of the Birkie races.

Their deep involvement even inspired a major life decision — a condo on Lake Hayward, purchased a dozen years ago to make sure the family always had a place to gather during Birkie weekends. From the Chequamegon Fat Tire Festival to the Birkie Trail Run to dozens of ski races, Hayward has become their home away from home.

Through their support of the American Birkebeiner Ski Foundation — from donating a brick at the OO Trailhead to volunteering year after year — the Stieglers embody the spirit of the Birkie family: fiercely competitive, endlessly supportive, and deeply committed to the trails and traditions that bring them back, season after season.

As Mike puts it with a grin, “Sonja loves the races because she doesn’t have to ride with me when we’re ‘training’ — but really, it’s about sharing these experiences together. That’s what keeps us coming back.”

AGING UP, NEVER OUT: THE LEGENDARY JOURNEY OF ODD OSLAND

ARTICLE BY PETER J. DORSEN, M.D.

Odd Osland, now 81, would never brag he took home four medals; that is, two silvers and two bronze at the World Masters Championships skating last year at the breathtakingly beautiful Canmore. His first name is pronounced Ode, or in Norwegian, arrowhead of a spear, to honor the first letter of his grandfather's name. Dr. Jim Agre, a younger 72, and elite cross-country skier himself, says, "I love his warm laugh. He's (So) very friendly with his Norwegian chuckle."

Odd explains, "I just age up and outlast the competition." Who other than Odd would choose to join the LNR Lemon team even though his fellow team were over 40 years his junior. Like many on their first Birkie as was Odd in 1990, "I didn't know what I was doing. I waxed my skis all wrong and they just didn't slide. It took me six hours."

Gear West's winter-waxing guru, Al Hanson, recalls Odd's recent visit to the store. "He came in here after his binding broke while skiing at dusk at Terrace Oaks in Burnsville, Minnesota. His face was all swollen. He had just come from urgent care. He was more worried about his skis. The guy's a legend."

Another skier, buddy, Bob Scow, opines, "I wish I could live as gracefully as he does. Odd's probably the most noble person I know. He's generous, honest, self-effacing—he's Odd. If he injures or hurts himself, he's up the next day." Back then, I could never catch him...but I was close." There is a flavor about Odd that the words from the iconic Norwegian writer, O.E. Rølvaag, in his book, Giants in the Earth, suggests, "Per Hansa had time to look around and rejoice in what he saw, all he saw was beautiful...he sees the hugeness of the American prairies as a challenge that he must overcome with his strength and determination."

As a youth, returning at four in the afternoon from school, Odd did the obligatory milking of the cows—yes, by hand-- and feeding his father's stock of sheep and pigs on his father's farm in Bue, thirty miles from Stavanger, Norway. Odd usually spent any extra in winter skiing up Lakselvafjellet, a nearby mountain, to bask in the sun, gaze out onto the North Sea, and, as they soared down, dazzle skiers from the big city.

Though the oldest who usually takes over the farm, because of a hip problem and many months in 1950 in the hospital, later requiring crutches, Odd went off to several agriculture trade schools, several jobs even driving trucks with chains over dangerous ice and snow before emigrating to the U.S. in 1970. "I went to dear distant cousins, in Cooperstown, North Dakota where he drove a tractor and later manufactured plows in town. He moved to Minneapolis to work at Graco before moving to Northbrook, Illinois for five years before returning to Minneapolis to work for a small research company. Then, for 25 years he as a senior design engineer at 3M.

In 1970, Odd began overcoming the major hip disability, McCune-Albright Syndrome, that had taken off the farm. Quite by accident, an innovative surgeon, Dr. Ramon Gustillo began surgically correcting the problem that would require five more surgeries. "It was a slow recovery, first walking with crutches, increasing my speed, jogging. I slowly improved. One of my legs is shorter than the other. Rediscovering an earlier love, skiing would come next.

Odd's journey in his adopted county echoes in Larry Odin Opseth Homesteaders Hopes, "Homesteading the unbroken buffalo grass Great Plains in the late 1800s wasn't for the weak or fainthearted...were hardworking, determined people who had successes and endured the Great Depression and the dust bowl of the Dirty Thirties." Odd, also is a man of true grit with a lifelong sense of purpose always flavored by perseverance, a lust for life, fitness, and a love for skiing. About Odd, Dr. Agre writes, "He has so much energy. When I am Odd's age, I want to ski like him." Just taking in races around the world, biking, hiking, roller skiing, or attending his beloved Kontakt, "Norwegian connection, Odd exudes a cheery Norwegian laced charisma. Two years ago, Odd became a dual citizen.

He's had his share of near-death crashes especially the one when he broke the frame of his road bike, flipped over the handlebars, and flirting ominously with death, fractured several cervical vertebrae that required a fusion of C3 through C7. He shows how his motion is limited. "How do you manage? I ask. "That's what mirrors are for," he laughs. "I just age up and last."

"I got to know Bjorn Lasserud with the Minneapolis Ski Club. I skied with him for 20 years. He liked to speak Norwegian as we trained. I skied with another house painter and dear friend, Arvid Torp, who is back in Norway." He laughs remembering the infamous "Dump Race" at a self-made course on a land fill near Hutchinson, Minnesota. "It was a tough race with a lot of switch backs." Odd has strong feelings about fitness and vehemently questions the current overweight and unfit culture with, "United we sit."

Odd has he been a benefactor of the Loppet Foundation and the American Birkebeiner, the Birkie. Odd almost yearly brings one or another of his grandchildren back to Norway. He also visits his Norwegian relatives in North Dakota remaining part of their lives. "They are wonderful people. My second cousin, Carolyn, passed away last year but her husband, David, 95, still loves to ride the combine over his 2000 acres of wheat, soybeans, and sunflowers.

"HOW LONG WILL YOU SKI?" I ASK. "UNTIL I FALL OVER."

Yearly, He shares his Birkie week timeshare at Telemark, at the Birkie trailhead with three of us as we eat and laugh nonstop commiserating with anyone whose race went south. When not skiing, he's often in the company of Jo-Ann Wittman, an amateur clarinetist and dear friend who shares many of Odd's exciting trips. On his yearly trip to Norway, his greatest thrill is to race or watch the roller ski race at the Blink Festival just outside Sandnes, Norway. He roller skis several days a week with his friends along the Minnesota River.

All has never been perfect for Odd especially when Odd lost his daughter, Kari in 1997, Tears well in his eyes as he says sadly, "She was my best friend." Divorced in 1992, his three sons, Even, Gar, and Tore, and seven grandchildren continue to make him proud. Besides his hip challenge, he's outrun prostate cancer, too many injuries to count, a noise some balance problem he had in a few races, kidney challenges, and now, intermittent atrial fibrillation. About his lifelong hip problem, he says, "It hurts anyway, so why not ski. When he trains, he throws in some sprints most men his age would never dare. "How long will you ski?" I ask. "Until I fall over."

Odd's not about to miss an international master's ski race just as he attends every funeral or birthday celebration including hosting his own 80th in the Loppet Trailhead. On or off the trail his fun is camaraderie with fellow skiers. The array of Mora Vasaloppet Dala horses and other race trophies adorning his shelves confirm his customary jump onto the podium in most of his ski races. Service is important to Odd. He proudly recalls many Twin cities skiers helping maintain the trails at the Cross-Country World Cup in Soldier Hollow, Utah in 2001 and the next year at the 2002 Olympics there.

The eldest of six children, Odd easily recounts the details of his life. Perhaps, he shares genes with brother, Per, now a professor of particle physics at the University of Bergen and working with Noble Prize winner, Roy Clauber. Odd humbly lists his wins on the World Masters Cross-Country racing circuit. He joyously recounts 2008 in McCall, Idaho: "No hardware. I didn't care. It was such an experience. There were 200 Russians." But in 2011, "I fell and fractured several ribs two weeks before the World Masters at Silver Star, British Columbia and spent the time there relaxing. In 2012 we went to Oberwiesenthal, East Germany where, before glasnost, there was a training complex for Germans and Russians. In 2017 the World Masters Championships were near the famous resort, Davos, in Kloster, Switzerland.

Odd unabashedly tells how at the 2018 World Masters on his home turf in Theodore Wirth Park, he teamed up for a medal in the 5-K relay with now over-75, Olympian, Bob Gray. In 2019 at Beitostolen, Norway, he grabbed a bronze in the 5K skate. A tough skating competitor, Odd laughs, "I'm wining because everyone my age has quit."

Odd's photography is both personal and often breath taking. Over the years he often shoots candidly from the hip. "I want to capture them when they are most relaxed." He has decades of pictures of everyone he knows and loves. His photographs from last year's world Masters in Canmore, Calgary reveal the beauty of the mountains towering over the race venue. Recently, Odd has hung photographs in exhibitions from his many travels that often capture the beauty of fjords, farms, and lakes near his birthplace in Norway. Odd, provides the photographs that illustrate the strength and stretching chapters in Men Over 60: Don't Quit Now!

Odd's answer to this author's question, "How do you feel about my writing this article about you? His answer is, "I'm embarrassed." Skiing with Odd on any trail at Hyland Lake Three Rivers Park in Bloomington, Minnesota during any ski season is like being with Norway's King Harald. Everyone knows him, loves him, and is certain he will skate ski like a champion forever. if it's up to Odd, he will do everything in his power to ensure he lives up to expectations of his so many fans."

Dr. Dorsen who is a frequent contributor to Silent Sports, is the author of Men Over 60: Don't Quit Now! He is an avid cross country ski racer and lives in Eagan, Minnesota with his life partner, Nada, her daughter, Samantha, and his wild and crazy standard poodle puppy, Willow.

‘AMERICA’S GREATEST SKI MARATHON’

New book covering 50 years of race history, written by veteran Birkie skier and journalist Jerome Poling, to be published this fall

ARTICLE & PHOTOGRAPHY COURTESY OF JEROME POLING

For more than 50 years, the challenge of the American Birkebeiner has drawn entrants from around the Midwest, country and world, from its humble 35-skier start in 1973 to becoming an epic event with 10,000-plus skiers annually.

Now, the full story of the famed “Birkie” has been chronicled for the first time in a new definitive history American Birkebeiner: The Nation’s Greatest Ski Marathon.

Published by the Wisconsin Historical Society Press, the 344-page, hardcover book is extensively researched and lavishly illustrated with 150 mostly color photographs.

The scheduled release date is October 21. It also will be available as an e-book.

The author is Jerome Poling of Eau Claire, Wis., who has skied 25 Birkebeiners. A career journalist who also has written four other books, he has covered the Birkebeiner since the 1980s.

“As one of the premier events in the Nordic world and in American sports, Birkebeiner history is both important and fascinating, one that certainly deserved to be chronicled,” Poling said. “With the support of the American Birkebeiner Ski Foundation and Executive Director Ben Popp, it has been an honor to bring that history together.”

A book launch event will be held at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday, Nov. 29, in the Gantz Great Room at Mt. Telemark Village as part of the Turkey Birkie weekend ski festival. Poling will speak, answer questions, and sign copies of the book.

According to the WHS Press news release, the book is “an exquisitely crafted ode to an extraordinary race. With lively prose, Poling captures the essence of this storied race — from race preparations and skier profiles to the extreme skiing conditions and the adrenaline-fueled, celebratory atmosphere.”

American Birkebeiner features five chapters on five decades of race history, plus five chapters that take readers deeper into the event, including an opening essay on race week and race day; the life of Tony Wise from his birth in Hayward to the start of the Birkebeiner; the low-key first race on an improvised racecourse; the history of the famous trail and what makes it so challenging; and the phenomenon known as Birkie Fever that kicks in each February.

The book has earned advance praise from U.S. skiing icon Bill Koch.

“If you want to know why people ski the Birkie forty times, this comprehensive and insightful book will clue you in. There really is no race like it in the country,” said Koch, a past entrant and 1976 Olympic silver medalist.

Clay Diggins, a veteran Birkebeiner skier and father of Olympic and Birkebeiner champion Jesse Diggins, also praised the book.

“For everyone who has ever clipped into a pair of cross country skis, the Birkie is much more than a race. American Birkebeiner chronicles the history, introduces the people, and tells the stories that capture the essence of Birkie Fever,” Diggins said.

Jerome Poling, author of “America’s Greatest Ski Marathon”

In writing the book, Poling interviewed more than 60 people, including Koch, and also dug through Birkebeiner Foundation and Sawyer County Record archives and the Anthony Wise Collection at Wisconsin Historical Society in Madison, along with other extensive research.

Holding the very first Birch Scroll in my hands, reading letters and documents that had been hand-written by Tony Wise, interviewing Tony Wise's daughters Frances and Janie and people who were there the day the race began—those were special moments," he said.

Poling said he tried to bring three perspectives to the work, that of historian, reporter and skier.

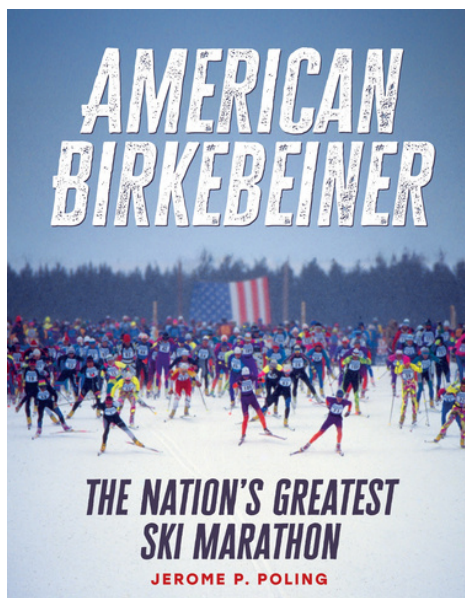

"I loved doing the research, unearthing documents, asking questions, finding key people and hearing their stories and then bringing it all to life in a narrative that I think even veteran Birkebeiner skiers will find informative. And the photos, many great ones from such a colorful event, really stand out."

"As a skier, I know how important the Birkie is in the lives of so many people, who put their hearts into training for it and finishing it. I tried to put my heart into writing it, too, out of respect for my fellow skiers and this amazing tradition."

Historical topics addressed include:

- The rise and fall of Telemark Lodge
- The mid-1980s Wise bankruptcy crisis that threatened the existence of the race
- The evolution of skate skiing around the world and then at the Birkie
- The decision in 1992 to try a Main Street finish
- The yeoman's work of volunteers that make the race possible
- Skier profiles, including the only 50-year finisher, Ernie St. Germaine
- Weather challenges and the impacts of climate change on the future of the race
- Developments in the past decade that have positioned the Birkebeiner to become an even more successful event and force for tourism in northern Wisconsin.

"As one of the bellwether events in the sport, Birkebeiner history mirrors the history of modern cross country skiing in the U.S.," Poling explained, noting that the sport and the race took off simultaneously in the early to mid-1970s.

That was no coincidence.

"The Birkebeiner's success helped drive growth in cross country skiing across the country. It was one of the nation's first ski marathons at a time when there were few citizen races of any kind and few trails even to train on. Promoting the sport nationally and internationally was one of Wise's goals. His impact was legendary," observed Poling.

Wise and many others associated with the race are enshrined in the U.S. Ski and Snowboard Hall of Fame.

"There was this big new race in northern Wisconsin. It sounded crazy. It was crazy. Within a few years of its inception, thousands wanted to take on the outsized challenge. Tony Wise was the visionary and master marketer who made it happen," Poling exclaimed. "It truly has been and remains the nation's greatest ski marathon. While the subtitle of the book may sound audacious, it isn't."

The book documents the elite champions, photo finishes, the triumphs of determined citizen skiers, the festival atmosphere in downtown Hayward, and much more.

"Look at what the Birkebeiner has become. Thousands flocking to remote northern Wisconsin in the middle of winter to ski 30-plus miles. That shouldn't be taken for granted. It's an annual miracle that two small cities can pull off this logistically complex week of events, a credit to the Birkebeiner Foundation, volunteers and people of the region who make it happen," he said.

The Wisconsin Historical Society Press will donate a portion of the proceeds from sales to the American Birkebeiner Ski Foundation to "help ensure the event thrives for years to come."

American Birkebeiner is available to purchase in person or online at The Birkie Store, at shop.wisconsinhistory.org, and at retail and online booksellers. The book is also available as an e-book from all major e-book outlets.

BIRKIE STAFF REPRESENT AT SWITZERLAND'S ENGADIN SKI MARATHON

ARTICLE & PHOTOGRAPHY COURTESY OF JEFF TUMBLESÓN

Last March, American Birkebeiner Ski Foundation staff members traveled to Switzerland's breathtaking Engadin Valley for a truly unforgettable experience on snow. Representing the ABSF at the 1st World Loppet Winter Meeting, Jeff Tumbleson and Erik Blow joined fellow delegates from World Loppet races across the globe to exchange ideas, share race insights, and strengthen the international ski community.

The trip may have been billed as a "working vacation," but there was no shortage of time spent on skis. Jeff and Erik took part in both the Engadin Nachtlauf night race—a lively midweek favorite under the stars—and the iconic 42K Engadin Ski Marathon. From the crisp alpine air to the dramatic mountain views, every kilometer was a postcard-perfect moment.

"The valley, the mountains, the races were exactly how you'd imagine Switzerland—nearly perfect experiences," said Jeff. "We'd wholeheartedly endorse the Engadin; it's absolutely worth the trip."

The delegation also received an exclusive behind-the-scenes look at how the Engadin Ski Marathon comes together each year and got a sneak peek at preparations for the upcoming 2025 FIS Freeski World Championships in nearby St. Moritz. The Engadin organizers offered generous hospitality and invaluable insight into their race's storied history and logistics.

Still, as Jeff was quick to note, one thing remains unmatched: "There's no Main Street finish like in Hayward—we've got the Swiss beat there!" From the Engadin to the Birkie, the spirit of community and the joy of skiing continue to connect skiers worldwide—proof that no matter where the trail leads, the camaraderie of the ski world knows no borders.
